RESEARCH BY WESTERN PINE ASSN. LABORATORY BENEFITS LUMBER PRODUCERS OF NEVADA COUNTY

There are a lot of us who have grown up in the heart of the western lumber industry with the notion that—like "pigs is pigs"—lumber is lumber and product development in the business never progressed after the first board was sawn from a log.

The fact of the matter is that, although it got a later start than in some other indusries, research in the development and use of lumber is a going enterprise and has been for at least 25 years.

For most pine lumber manufacturing concerns, it is done on a cooperative level. Some very large organizations, of course, have their own research departments with chemists and engineers working full time on new projects.

But the average producer in this area, firms like Cal-Ida Lumber company of Downieville; Mill Creek Lumber company and Nutting Lumber company of North San Juan; G. N. Dodge Lumber company and Grizzly Sawmill of North Columbia; Tahoe Sugar Pine company, Washington; and Yuba River Lumber company, Camptonville; research is one of the many functions of the Western Pine association, of which the above mentioned firms are members.

The Western Pine association represents more 80 percent of the total pine production of the west.

The association's research activities began in 1923 when Albert Hermann joined the group as a dry kiln specialist. In those days mechanical drying of lumber was a comparatively new idea, there weren't many kiln installations and the experience level of kiln operators was so low that good results didn't occur with any regularity.

Hermann, still with the association and recognized as one of the nation's leading lumber kiln authorities, discovered a need among members for help on other problems. That brought about establishment of a laboratory.

Today the lab, located in Portland, Ore., and employing seven wood engineers and chemists, has a dozen projects going at once and can look back on a record of achievement which has opened countless new markets to pine lumber in all grades. The formula for the most widely used preservative treatment for pine — pentachlorphenol—was developed in the Portland lab in 1935.

At the time, the wood window wash market was in danger because a new sash installation method permitted infiltration of moisture into installed units and brought about eventual decay. The formula was made available without charge to the nation's manufacturing chemists. Their products, marketed under many different names but all based on the association's discovery, have become industry standards and are used by all leading sash, door and window makers. The "penta" preparation acts as a fungicide.

Another notable development was WP-578, a clear, synthetic-resin liquid which seals pine knots against bleeding of knot-resins through paint coverings, preventing discoloration and subsequent paint failure. Again made available free to paint and varnish manufacturers, WP-578 is now being produced by more than eighty concerns, each marketing the product under a different brand name. Production has doubled each year since it was announced late in 1945.

The knot sealer has greatly enlarged the market for common grade boards by placing them in the residential siding field. It's helped solve the housing material shortage, too, by expanding the available supply.

The lab may also be credited with development of Staypak, a super hardwood made by compressing white fir, western red cedar or other non-resinous softwood down to one-third its original thickness. Not yet on the market, Staypak retains the natural wood grain and has a ready made high gloss which does not require a finish.

Solutions of problems in manufacturing is another part of the lab's work. The dry kiln advisory service has been maintained all through the years and air drying methods have been developed to handle specific species and climatic conditions. A current and promising project is the study of toxic spray methods to prevent development of blue and brown stain in freshly cut ponderosa and sugar pine logs.

Other projects include stress studies on Douglas fir of the western pine region, low grade improvement by means of edge- and end-gluing of small clear cuttings, nailing techniques, extracts from larch trees, glued-up wide sheathing panels, clear finishes, waste utilization and pigmented WP-578.

New projects are added from time to time as old ones are successfully completed. Periodic reports of progress and results of completed work are made available to members, some 300 of them at latest reckoning.

The cooperative research method protects the pine industry from lagging behind competition in manufacturing and marketing at only a small cost to each participating firm, most of whom could not afford their own development departments.

Lumber is lumber, indeed, but the methods of producing it, processing it and using it are constantly changing. The western pine industry is keeping up with the change. In fact, it's often bringing it about.

CHURCH BELLS WILL USHER IN CRUSADE

Church bells and mine whistles will be sounded at 10 a. m. tomorrow to usher in Nevada county's part in the nationwide Crusade for Freedom.

Freedom Scrolls will be placed at centrally located spots where signors can join the great movement to take the word of Democracy to peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Donations will be received at the same time to finance a radio program directed to all eastern European countries to offset the effects of communist propaganda.

Superior Judge James Snell is county head of the campaign. His top aides are C. R. Clinch, Guy Robinson, Gail Gordon, Roy Tremoureux, Gilbert Cramer, John Fortier and Eugene Ingalls.

The signed Freedom Scrolls will be flown to Berlin where they will be sealed in the foundation of the Freedom Bell which will be dedicated on United Nations Day, October 24.

The Crusade started in the United States September 5 and will close October 16.

ASKS FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGED RANCH

Halver R. Norris filed suit in Nevada county superior court on Monday asking foreclosure of a mortgage and judgment for unpaid note totaling $7,500 plus interest and attorney's fees from Louis O. Macloon, the Nevada Irrigation District and others.

The property to be foreclosed is in the vicinity of Wolk Creek mountain in the southern part of the county.

Norris alleges in his complaint that a note signed Jan. 1, 1949, is unpaid.

Others listed in the suit as defendants are Alvin Waddle, Wesley Waddle, Mrs. Clarence Stewart, Keith G. Stewart, Mark Stewart, L. H. Palmerton, Eunice M. Palmerton, Glen Silva, Stanton Silva, B. E. Billings and Mrs. Gladys Billings, and several unknowns.

HOWARD TRYON IS CALLED TO NAVY DUTY

Howard Tryon, who with his father, Gordon Tryon, operates the Victory Cab in Nevada City, reported Tuesday at Treasure Island for active duty with the U. S. Navy.

Tryon, a naval reservist, holds the rating of radarman, third class.

LUMBER WORKER SHOT IN FOOT IN BARROOM

The almost forgotten sound of gunfire along the main streets of Nevada county communities was heard again in Washington early Wednesday morning when Jack McGovern, 32, was shot in the foot following what officers labelled a barroom brawl.

Jailed for investigation in connection with the shooting was Arthur D. Sharp, 30, a lumber worker who reportedly fired the gun while several companions were attempting to disarm him.

McGovern was shot when the .270 calibre bullet crashed through the wall of the Washington hotel while he was coming down stairs to discover the cause of the disturbance.

Undersheriff Otis Hardt and Deputy Sheriff Percy Watters investigated and jailed Sharp.

ASSAULT DAMAGES CASE ENTERS THIRD DAY

A court trial in which Sam Martin, Salinas produce merchant, is seeking $26,973 damages against G. H. Peterson and Fred Butz of North San Juan enters its third day before Superior Judge James Snell this morning.

Martin charges he was violently assaulted when he visited Peterson's corners bar and restaurant near North San Juan May 30, 1948.

TOMORROW LAST DAY TO FILE LABOR CLAIMS

Owners of unpatented mining claims are cautioned that tomorrow is the last day for completing assessment work and filing claims to keep title for the year closing June 30, 1950.

A three months extension had been voted by congress June 30 to enable prospectors and others to complete their $100 of work, in view of the unsettled nature of the law at the time.

IN BAY AREA

Judge and Mrs. George L. Jones are home again after having spent three weeks in San Francisco.

DEAD LUMBER WORKER IDENTIFIED CONVICT

The body of a 40 year old lumber worker who died following a logging accident near Truckee Wednesday was identified yesterday as the body of Charles Kennedy who escaped in early August from a prison road camp near Bass Lake.

Positive identification was made by a San Quentin prison official and Mrs. James Nelm of Elk Grove, cousin of the man who had been working under the assumed name of Jack Reed.

Sheriff Richard Hoskins said yesterday the man had dyed his hair which had been red, to black.

Hoskins and Coroner Alvah Hooper joined the investigation yesterday afternoon.

Kennedy died of injuries suffered when he was struck by a cable used in log loading.

Kennedy was committed to San Quentin in 1947 for a sex offense.

MINE LESSORS CLAIM FREEZE-OUT OF GOLD

Harry Buck and Winchell W. Knecttle filed a complaint in Nevada county superior court Tuesday against Charles Peterson alleging Peterson withheld information from them and ordered them to leave the premises while they were operating a lease from the Empire-Star Mines.

The plaintiffs claim Peterson took his action upon their arrival at pay dirt after promising full partnership in profits for two or three years or the life of the agreement.

According to the complaint the plaintiff state Peterson severed the agreement by charging the plaintiffs were doing unsatisfactory work.

BAPTIST CHURCH NAMES NEW OFFICERS

The Community Baptist church Tuesday night closed its books on its fiscal year ending this month and reappointed a church staff to serve during the coming year. The church was organized two years ago under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. John MacDonald.

Officers reelected were Legrand Stirling, board of elders; Allan Hahn, board of trustees; Mrs. Legrand Stirling, Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. Mabel Prentiss, board of Christian Education; and Alvin Molen, assistant moderator. Newly elected were Mrs. Loren Sherwood, clerk, and Loren Sherwood, head usher.

ELECTION TEMPO UP AS NID DAY OF DECISION NEARS

Chairman Max Arnold and Herbert J. Nile of the Nevada Irrigation District directorate face a recall election Tuesday in one of the county's hottest and most widely publicized political contests in recent years.

Arnold will be opposed by Clarence Gassaway, cattle raiser from the Bear river district south of Grass Valley. Nile will face C. O. Armstrong, president of the Nevada County Farm Bureau Federation.

The recall election was precipitated by the N. I. D. Land Owners Association formed in early August after Nile, Arnold and J. H. Gleason, another director, had asked for the resignation of Forrest Varney, NID manager. Gleahowever, was not subjected to recall action. His term ends in March of 1951.

The directors favoring Varney's retention as manager are G. O. Griffith and E. B. Power.

Nile, Arnold and Gleason, shortly after Varney's dismissal Sept. 8, set up a governing arrangement wherein the district will operate without a manager and its affairs will be handled by the directors meeting once a week in consultation with a superintendent and agent. Both of the latter officers were given substantial pay boosts under the new arrangement.

The other two directors have steadfastly maintained that the NID with more than $12,000,000 in physical facilities and covering 260,000 acres in Nevada and Placer counties needs a full-time manager.

The local press during the past two weeks has been beseiged by a flood of letters by members of the NID Water Users Association which ought Varney's removal, and the Land Owners Association.

Donald Gates, member of the water users group and one of the leaders in the faction supporting the two incumbent directors, suffered a blackened eye Wednesday but declined to say whether it was a result of the water users-land owner letter writing feud.

Meanwhile a grand jury investigation of the NID books is still underway under thedirection of investigators appointed by the state attorney general's office.

Arnold represents the area east and south of Grass Valley and

City Bridges Started Halladie and Sawyer to Honors

By AL TRIVELPIECE

In one century, California bridge building has progressed from a footbridge log across a mountain stream to the awe inspiring structures which span San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate. In short California has moved from the bottom to the top of the bridge building world in one short century.

Records show that Nevada City played a large part in the early years of this century of bridge building progress, and one of the most important local spans from the standpoint of historical interest was the suspension bridge built in 1862 at the present location of the Pine street bridge.

The span was conceived in the minds of local citizens in 1860. However the project failed to obtain unanimous popularity. A large body of citizens protested its construction as too costly and impractical. Suggestions of a municipal tax levy were stoutly protested, but the bridge boosters finally won out. In 1861 the California legislature passed an act authorizing Nevada City to levy a tax of 5.8 of one percent to finance construction of a bridge.

Again the protestants came to bat with a wave of injunctions and restraining orders. The case moved slowly through local, county and district courts and was finally carried to the California supreme court which placed its stamp of approval on the proposed structure.

In the early spring of 1862 work started under a $9,000 contract with Andrew S. Halladie of San Francisco. In late May the structure was completed and thrown open to vehicular traffic.

For its day, the bridge was the acme of engineering magnificence.

Travelers came from great distances to gaze in awe, and engineers marveled at its great span, height, weight and apparent mechanical solidarity and safety.

The two great cables supporting the structure were four inches in diameter and were composed of 1,050 separate 12-gauge wires. More than 100,000 feet of lumber was used in the structure. It was the largest bridge in California with 4,700 square feet of bridge surface. Its great 503-foot cables weighed 36,000 pounds. The towers carrying the cable saddles were 33 feet above the 14-foot-wide deck of the structure.

True enough, there were longer suspension bridges in California but there were none so high or so wide or so handsome.

Throughout June and early July of 1862 great loads of lumber, hay, supplies from Sacramento and San Francisco, and mining machinery moved in a steady stream across the span.

Then came disaster!

One of the bulkheads at the end of the bridge gave way and three men and twenty oxen were dumped onto the boulders sixty feet below. Two of the men and 15 of the oxen were killed.

Advised of the catastrophe Halladie hurried to Nevada City. The bridge was strengthened and portions rebuilt but the final cost was $15,000 instead of the expected $9,000.

In October of 1862 the rebuilt bridge was again thrown open to traffic but scores of teamsters declined to use the structure for many months after its opening.

The tragic scene was still fresh in the minds of scores of local folks. They could vividly recall the injured oxen struggling in their harnesses and bellowing in pain and terror. Many of the animals were dispatched with rifle bullets.

With considerable juggling of municipal finance Halladie was paid off and returned to San Francisco to a career climaxed by his creation of the city's cable car system which is rated as one of the world's greatest achievements in municipal transportation.

Halladie's rebuilt bridge which was opened in October of 1862 must have been scientifically and structurally sound. Seventy-eight years later, (1940) at Orleans an almost identical span was built across the Klamath river. In most respects the 1940 bridge and the 1862 span were as alike as two peas. Many of the features of a rigid suspension bridge which were patented by Halladie are still used in suspension bridge construction.

A story of Halladie's life would fill a large volume but a few highlights can be offered here.

For instance, his true family name was not Halladie—it was Smith. He adopted the name Halladie in respect to his godfather who was personal physician to Queen Victoria.

He was born in London in 1836 and came to California with his father in 1852. After a brief attempt to mine gold he and his father opened a small shop for the manufacture of wire rope for which there was great demand. In odd moments he performed surveying and blacksmithing jobs.

It is interesting to note that his first suspension bridge patent was applied for in 1867—five years after construction of the Pine Street brdge here. Obviously the local bridge was a part of his vast program of research. It is probable his local bridge failure has considerable effect on his mechanical conclusions.

The suspension bridge served the local carriage, wagon and pedestrian trade for nearly a half century but was finally replaced in 1904 by the present fabricated steel span.

But no story of Nevada City bridges would be complete without mention of another and earlier bridge that spanned Deer Creek. It was nothing more nor less than a pine log two feet in diameter but it played a small part in the lives and fortunes of thousands of persons and was a contributing factor in the Sawyer Decision of 1884 which was the death blow to hydraulic mining.

The story of this log footbridge, briefly goes like this:

Lorenzo Sawyer came to Nevada City as a young man. He tried his hand at mining without success. In law practice he was equally unsuccessful. His waiting room went for months with only an occasional client. Disgusted with the law business here he moved to San Francisco. He returned to Nevada City just in time to defend "Old Harriet" who conducted a brothel believed to have been located on the opposite shore of Deer Creek below the Plaza.

The shady old lady, according to best reports now available, had been accused of murder in connection with the death of Pat Berry, a miner who came from his claim well laden with gold dust and nuggets. Berry had purchased a new suit and decided to have a gay evening at Harriet's palace of pleaure. The next morning his nude body was found floating in a whirlpool below the establishment. A bruised temple hinted that he had been slugged.

Harriet was arrested, but no local attorney saw fit to take over her defense. Sawyer, however, took her case and started preparation of a defense.

A few days later another nude body was found floating in the same whirlpool with a similar bruise on the temple.

Sawyer's defense was simple. Both men had fallen from the log foot bridge and struck their heads on the rocks below. The whirlpool, Sawyer, said, had divested both bodies of clothing.

Harriet was freed and Sawyer was launched on a brilliant legal career. His offices, from that day, were crowded. He was named a district judge, and later moved to the state supreme court bench as chief justice. President U. S. Grant appointed him a federal court judge. From that high bench he handed down the famed decision which washed up the multi-million dollar hydraulic mining industry.

But notice that the evidence at the log footbridge was the turning point in the career of one of the city's most celebrated sons!

CAN WE FIGHT THIS WAR AND KEEP DEMOCRACY?

The Korean phase or opening skirmish of the war with Russia is for all practical purposes, over.

The Korean "police action" was obviously a trial balloon by the Russian brain-trust to test our strength and speed in swinging into a combat condition. It also appears obvious that the Russians do not yet feel they are ready to commit themselves to combat with the U. S.

We have comported ourselves in this skirmish as we have in all previous wars, with unpreparedness, early defeats and retreats, and eventually with an accumulation of overwhelming quantities of men and material gained an inefficient and costly victory in arms that fails to gain victory in peace.

The question in the minds of all Americans and citizens of the world on this portentious day of September 29, 1950, is "Where do we go from here?"

Do we accept the gage of battle craftily tossed (through the guise of North Koreans) at us by the dictators of the Kremlin? Or do we postpone the day of reckoning until the time the Russians can whip us?

If we accept the collapse of North Korean military power as a token that Russia now will not fight the U.S. we will be blind to all that history has taught. Blind as the Egyptians who appeased the desert hordes to no avail. Blind as the Romans, grown soft with luxuriant living, who appeased the barbarians when hireling hosts were of no avail, only to end in oblivion.

All history and human nature screams at us that the rich nation or the rich man is hated by his less fortunate neighbors. Every nation on the face of the globe is envious of our wealth, our standard of living, and would dare to attack us if they had the power.

Today only one nation has that power potential: Russia. And when that potential becomes reality we will be at war with Russia, unless we precipitate the issue.

America on this day of portent faces more than the question of war. We face the loss of our fundamental concepts of freedom—the Bill of Rights. Over President Truman's veto, the congress voted into law a Communist-control bill—a law that can only strengthen the Communist party. Six thousands years of recorded history prove time and again that persecuted groups and idealogies thrive on suppression.

Subversives would be the first to step forward to take loyalty oaths. The hasty oath of non-criminality does not prove a murderer innocent. Only the bright light of revelation and thorough study presents the truth to a sensible people. If the American people cannot study Democracy and Communism or any other ism and freely make their own choice we will wind up with the ism of dictatorship and the loss of Democracy.

Today the Communist bill requires the registration of Communists. Who is to deny that mayhap in ten years Republicans will be considered subversive.

We heard one of the loggers who are among the early breakfast eaters at the Shamrock cafe complain that his newly acquired wife had put a dish of ice cream in his lunch box so he could cool off at lunch time during one of the recent hot spells.

Elderly lady to high school sophomore: "You had better stop smoking or you'll never be president of the U. S. The boy's answer: I never will anyway, lady, I'm a Republican.

About 74 percent of all automobiles in the United States in 1948 were owned by families or individuals with less than $5,000 yearly income, according to figures of the federal reserve board.—Great Falls, Mont., Journal.

Statistics show that Yale graduates have 1.3 children while Vassar graduates have 1.7 children, which only goes to prove that women have more children than men.

HEAVEN HELP THE TAXPAYER

There doesn't seem to be too much of a bad thing that George McLain can perpetrate on his innocent public in his earning a fat living from the purses of the $75-per-month old age pension recipients. He and his propagandizing pressure organization is now again working on an initiative measure to put corruption back into the California pension picture.

George apparently isn't too hopeful, this time, of getting the measure to pass. He knows he is asking for entirely too much to win public approval of the bill. But if he doesn't keep a terrific tempest brewing in his little pot of tea, how is he going to keep on extracting a tithe from the pensions which the state pays to those 65 years of age and older?

He keeps selling blue sky, at high cash prices, to those who allow self-hope to blind them to cold realities.

This latest initiative, 200,000 signatures for which are now being solicited (a not too difficult feat with over 266,000 names on the pension rolls), would re-establish the $75 monthly minimum pension payment but asks that the pensions be scaled upwards at least every six months on the basis of the cost of living in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

It would abolish the responsibility the law now places on sons and daughters to help defray their parents' living expenses when they are financially able to meet some of this cost from their earnings. It would raise to $1,500 the amount of personal property that a pensioner could own and still be eligible to be paid a full pension a month.

It would provide a $150 outright benefit to pay the funeral expenses of pensioners and it would provide that the state pay, fully and without question, any and all bills incurred by pensioners for the following purposes: eye glasses, dental and orthopedic appliances, hearing aids, medicines, medical attention, chiropractic or treatment by prayer. What a blank check!

What an opportunity for the quacks and fakers that abound in California, to exploit those who feel the ravages of years at phenomenal cost to the public coffers. There is no limit whatever imposed on the amount of money that could be spent by the taxpayers on this score, altogether unnecessarily and improperly, by innocent seekers of the non-existent fountain of youth.

Without specifying where the state is going to get the millions of dollars monthly to meet the cost, George, again, would return to the state the expense of the pensions and all the administrative expense involved in getting the payments made to those entitled to their monthly checks.

This would require the several county welfare organizations again to be paralleled at state expense by a state organization in each county.

Heaven help the taxpayer against a man like this!

THE UNHAPPY NID

Tuesday the electors of the Nevada Irrigation District go to the polls to settle an issue: Whether to maintain the status quo of operation by a hired manager, or to operate the district by the land owners.

If the electors want the status quo they will recall Directors Max Arnold and Herb Nile. Otherwise, otherwise.

We personally believe the recall will fail. Our interpretation of the undertone of the meetings we have attended indicates a general dissatisfaction with the land tax assessment of five percent. The property owners have watched the district operate for more than a quarter of a century with less progress than any other irrigation district in the state and apparently are willing to try a change.

NEWS OF NEVADA CITY HIGH SCHOOL

The first of the series in the national assemblies was held last Wednesday at 2:45 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The program scheduled was Maurice Koukel, a violinist, but unexpectedly he was called into the Navy. He was replaced by Mr. Barry, an organist. He gave an outstanding performance, with numbers that included "Hoop De Do," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Mona Lisa," "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," "Bells of St. Mary's," "Goodnight Irene," "Twelfth Street Rag," "St. Louis Blues," and "Indian Love Call." He also played a number of selections from the Hit Parade of 1928, including "Ain't She Sweet?" "Four Leaf Clover, "Sundown," and "Five Foot Two." He next gave a salute to the armed forces by playing "The Army Air Corps Song," "The Marine Hymn," "The Field Artillery Song," and "Anchors Aweigh." The program was one of the best to be held at the high school and was enjoyed by the entire student body.

Hal Draper, general science teacher at the high school, had scheduled another test for this coming Tuesday.

New majorettes chosen by Majorette Leader Shirley Baker are Joanna Godfrey, Jo Ann Dilliard and Wanda Dilliard. They will fill the vacancies left by the majorettes who graduated last year.

Miss Helen Chapman, girls' physical education teacher, announced that the girls would continue speedball until the winter begins, with baseball and tennis not being played until after winter.

Last week Mrs. Constance Pfiffer's English II class saw the motion picture, "Treasure Island," starring Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper.

FAIR. That the recent county showing was one of the best to date is acknowledged by all who attended. That its setting is ideal is agreed upon by all out of county visitors. What it lacked in accommodations for the individual exhibitors and exhibits is your fault Mr. and Mrs. County Citizen.

GRIPE. That certain individuals always walk off with the prizes, year in and year out, in designated exhibits is the squawk heard around the county. "What is the use of exhibiting? Why compete with Mrs. So and So and Mrs. Prize Everytime?" Bla, bla, chatter, chatter.

* * * *

CONTEMPLATION. Now that the fair is over is just the time to sit down in a quiet and comfortable spot and do some thinking. So you want more and better space? For what? O. K. don't tell your neighbor about it. Write a nice letter to the fair manager or his secretary. Make your wants known, and why. Get your interested friends to write letters. Show your interest. The manager and secretary want such letters. They will show your written wants and suggestions to the powers that be. They want to help you in obtaining the best exhibiting facilities in the state. Write that letter now. Two weeks before the next showing wont' do you or the rest of us any good.

* * * *

JAM. What you make is just as good as prize winners. But, gals, how is the county to know about it if you don't exhibit. The same for jellies, preserves, and all the other goodies that can go to the fair. The same for flowers and flower arrangements. Sure, you can do just as well and better but you don't make the effort to give the year-in and year-out winners a run for their money. Make your plans right now to go out and get the blue ribbons and mazuma at next year's fair. Actions get results. Talking about a thing does not even move you out of your chair.

* * * *

YOUNGSTERS. The fair exhibitors redeemed the county's good name. In recent months the juvenile deliquency reports tended to give the impression that this good old county was the spawning place for juvenile crime. The boys were all bad. The girls not so far behind. Kids get into trouble because they have no absorbing interests. Get the boys and girls busy developing their talents. These unmanageables don't all want to become 4-H club members. Some like to dance, others to draw. They like to create. There are those who like to show off. Acting for them. Why not have prizes at the fair for such talents. Arts and crafts, applied art, etc. How about a little theater movement. Let the kids strut their stuff before their parents and friends, and not before the judge of the juvenile court.

New Use For Old Windmills

I drove past Larson's farm last week and saw him perched on top of his 75-year-old windmill. "Still planning on tearing it down?" I shouted up to him.

"Not on your life," says Curly as he climbs down. "I'm getting myself a television set from Buzz Ellis' and he says this windmill is going to come in mighty handy."

"You see," Curly went on, "I'm going to put my TV antenna right on top of it. Since the windmill is higher than the house, I'll get the best reception around here—but if it wasn't for Buzz and his advice, I'd have scrapped it."

From where I sit, Curly's success as a farmer and his popularity in town is due, in a large part, to his open-mindedness and his willingness to listen to people and their opinions. He'll listen to Buzz Ellis over a malted milk or he and I can talk politics—each with a glass of temperate beer. Yes, Curly's as modern as television itself!

ORDINANCE NO. 256

WHEREAS, experience during war and peace has demonstrated the need for adequate disaster plans and for mobilization of the resources of the community to cope with such disasters; and

WHEREAS, the State of California has created a State Disaster Council to prepare a state disaster plan and to recommend mutual aid regions; and

WHEREAS, municipalities have legal authority (Constitution, Article XI, Section 11, and Military and Veterans Code Section 1571, as amended by Statutes of 1945, Chapter 1024) to create disaster councils for the purpose of formulating local disaster plans, including mutual aid agreements;

NOW THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Nevada does ordain as follows:

Section 1. DISASTER. As used in this ordinance, the term "disaster" shall include, but is not limited to, any extraordinary fire, flood, riot, storm, epidemic, earthquake or sabotage, or any enemy attack, which causes or threatens to cause loss of life or property and in which occurrences the responsibility devolves upon the regular constituted authorities for the maintenance of public peace and order and the preservation of life and property.

Section 2. DISASTER COUNCIL. MEMBERSHIP. The Nevada City Disaster Council is hereby created and shall consist of the following:

a. The Mayor, who shall be chairman.

b. The Commander, who shall be vice-chairman.

c. The Vice-commander, appointed by the Mayor with the advice and consent of the City Council, who, in the absence of, or at the direction of, the Commander, shall act on his behalf on matters within the purview of this ordinance.

d. The Chiefs of Divisions as hereinafter provided.

e. Such other representatives of civic, business, labor, veterans, professional or other organizations as may be appointed by the mayor with the advice and consent of the City Council.

Section 3. DISASTER COUNCIL. POWERS AND DUTIES. It shall be the duty of the Nevada City Disaster Council, and it hereby empowered:

a. To develop a plan for meeting any disaster. Such plan shall provide for the effective mobilization of all the resources of the community, both public and private;

b. To prepare and recommend for consideration by the City Council ordinances necessary to implement the disaster plan;

c. To consider and recommend to the City Council for approval mutual aid plans and agreements;

d. Others.

The Disaster Council shall meet upon call of the chairman.

Section 4. COMMANDER. POWERS AND DUTIES. There is hereby created the office of Commander. Such officer shall be appointed by the mayor with the advice and consent of the City Council.

The Commander is hereby empowered:

a. To proclaim the existence or threatened existence of a disaster and the termination thereof;

b. To request the Governor to proclaim a state of extreme emergency in the area in and around the City of Nevada, when in the opinion of the Commander the resources of the Community are inadequate to cope with the disaster;

c. To govern and direct the effort of the Nevada City Disaster Corps in the accomplishment of the purposes of this ordinance;

d. To direct coordination and cooperation between the chiefs of divisions and resolve questions of authority and responsibility that may arise between them;

e. To represent the Disaster Corps in all dealings with public or private agencies pertaining to disaster preparedness.

It shall also be the duty of the Commander, and he is hereby empowered, during a disaster or when a disaster is imminent:

a. To make and issue rules and regulations on matters reasonably related to the protection of life and property as effected by such disaster;

b. To obtain vital supplies, equipment and such other properties found lacking and needed for the protection of the life and property of the people, and bind the city for the fair value thereof, and, if required immediately, to commandeer the same for public use;

c. To require emergency services of any city officer or employee;

d. To requisition necessary personnel or material of any city department or agency;

e. To execute all of his ordinary powers as Mayor, all of the special powers conferred upon him by this ordinance, and all powers conferred upon him by any other lawful authority.

Section 5. EXECUTIVE OFFICER. There is hereby created the position of Executive Officer of the Disaster Corps. The Executive Officer shall be appointed by the Mayor, with the advice and consent of the City Council. The Executive Officer shall be the executive secretary of the Disaster Council and shall be Chief of the Division of Personnel and Recruitment.

Section 6. DISASTER CORPS. GENERAL. Officers and employees of the City of Nevada, together with those volunteer forces enrolled to aid them during a disaster, and all groups, organizations and persons who may by agreement or operation of law be charged with duties incident to the protection of life and property inthe City of Nevada during such disaster, shall constitute the Nevada City Disaster Corps.

Section 7. DIVISIONS OF DISASTER CORPS. The functions and duties of the Nevada City Disaster Corps shall be distributed among the following divisions of such corps, each division to be under the direction of a Chief and, in his absence, the first deputy and second deputy chief, respectively, appointed by the Chief, and said division to consist of the following forces, organizations and services, and such other forces, organizations or services as may be included pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance. The chiefs of divisions shall organize and train volunteers assigned to such division by the Personnel and Recruitment Division and shall formulate the division plan which, when approved by the Disaster Council, shall become a part of the disaster plan. The Chiefs of Divisions shall include in the division plans recommended mutual aid agreements. The Chiefs of Divisions shall be custodians of special equipment and other property which may be obtained from any source and assigned to such division by the Commander. The Mayor may combine such offices as may be necessary or convenient.

A. LAW AND ORDER DIVISION. This division shall be under and subject to the control of the chief of police, who shall be chief of the Law and Order Division. The division shall consist of police personnel and auxiliary police (volunteers).

B. FIRE DIVISION. This division shall be under and subject to the control of the chief of the fire department, who shall be Chief of the Fire Division. The division shall consist of fire department personnel and auxiliary fire fighters (volunteers).

C. MEDICAL DIVISION. This division shall be under and subject to the control of the city health officer, who shall be Chief of the Medical Division. The division shall consist of health department personnel and medical service volunteers.

D. PUBLIC WORKS DIVISION. This division shall be under and subject to the control of the director of public works (city engineer) who shall be Chief of the Public Works Division. The division shall consist of the department of public works personnel and auxiliary personnel (volunteers).

E. UTILITIES DIVISION. This division shall be under and subject to the control of the utilities department, and the head of such department shall be Chief of the Division. The division shall consist of utilities department personnel and auxiliary personnel (volunteers).

F. TRANSPORTATION DIVISION. The chief of this division shall be a public official managing transportation facilities, or a citizen, experienced and engaged in such industry, appointed by the Mayor with the advice and consent of the City Council. The division shall consist of auxiliary personnel (volunteers).

G. COMMUNICATIONS DIVISION. The chief of this division shall be a public official operating communications facilities (police or fire) or a citizen experienced and engaged in such industry, appointed by the mayor with the advice and consent of the City Council. The division shall consist of auxiliary personnel (volunteers) and city personnel engaged in communications work.

H. PERSONNEL AND RECRUITMENT DIVISION. This division shall be under and subject to the control of the Executive Officer. It shall be the duty of this division to recruit all volunteer personnel, to enroll and register such personnel, to keep adequate records thereof, and to assign such personnel to other divisions of the Disaster Corps. The Executive Officer may establish and operate a volunteer office.

I. AMERICAN RED CROSS. The American Red Cross in the City of Nevada will furnish food, clothing, shelter, registration and information service, supplementary medical service when requested, and rehabilitation to individuals and families affected by a disaster. The American Red Cross will provide funds with which to finance all its relief operations. The Chief of this division will be the chairman of the City of Nevada Chapter of the American Red Cross, or a delegated representative thereof.

J. OTHERS (AS DETERMINED LOCALLY).

Section 8. VOLUNTEERS. All persons, other than officers and employees of the city, volunteering services pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance, shall serve without compensation from the city. While engaged in such services, they shall have the same immunities as officers and employees of the city performing similar duties.

Section 9. PUNISHMENT OF VIOLATIONS. It shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not to exceed $500.00, or by imprisonment for not to exceed six months, or both, for any person during a disaster:

A. Wilfully obstruct, hinder or delay any member of the Disaster Corps in the enforcement of any lawful rule or regulation issued pursuant to this ordinance, or in the performance of any duty imposed upon him by virtue of this ordinance;

B. To do any act forbidden by any lawful rules or regulations issued pursuant to this ordinance, if any such act is of such a nature as to give, or be likely to give assistance to the enemy, or to imperil the lives or property of other inhabitants of this city, or to prevent, hinder or delay the defense or protection thereof;

C. To wear, carry or display, without authority, any means of identification specified by the Disaster Council.

Section 10. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts showing its urgency:

A complete and adequate disaster plan must be formulated at once by the Disaster Council. The plan will be based upon plans formulated by the chiefs of divisions and upon mutual aid agreements. To protect the lives and property of the citizens of the City of Nevada, responsibility for the formulation of such plans and agreements should be fixed immediately.

It is the intention of the City Council that each separate provision of this ordinance shall be deemed independent of all other provisions herein, and it is further the intention of the City Council that if any of the provisions of this ordinance be declared invalid, all other provisions thereof shall remain valid and enforceable.

No. 9682

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF NEVADA.

EDITH EVERSOLE, Plaintiff, vs. WM. C. STILES, W. F. DuBOIS, THE NEVADA IRRIGATION DISTRICT, organized under the irrigation district laws, EMILY MURIEL FLETCHER, JOHN A. FLETCHER, LAWRENCE J. SMITH, RAYMOND I. SMITH, and "also all other persons unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the complaint adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto", Defendants.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA SEND GREETINGS TO:

WM. C. STILES, W. F. DuBOIS, THE NEVADA IRRIGATION DISTRICT, organized under the irrigation district laws, EMILY MURIEL FLETCHER, JOHN A. FLETCHER, LAWRENCE J. SMITH, RAYMOND I. SMITH, and "also all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the complaint adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto", Defendants.

You and each of you are hereby directed to appear and answer the complaint in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Nevada, within ten (10) days after the service upon you of this summons if served within the County of Nevada, or within thirty (30) days if served elsewhere.

You are hereby notified that unless you appear and answer as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment against you for any money or damage demanded in the complaint as arising upon contract, or he will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

That said action is brought by the above named plaintiff against the above named defendants, and by each of them, to quiet the plaintiff's title to the lands and real property described in the complaint on file herein in the said action and hereinafter particularly described, and to determine the adverse claims of the above named defendants, and each of them, and all unknown persons to, any clouds upon the title to the said real property and the whole thereof, pursuant to the provisions of Sections 749, 750, and 751 of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California, and that the said real property is situate, lying and being in the City of Nevada, County of Nevada, State of California, particularly described as follows:

All that portion of Lot No. 18, Block No. 43, of the City of Nevada, as shown on the Official Map of Nevada City, made by H. S. Bradley in the year 1869, and described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at an iron pipe at the Southwest corner of the lot on the North side of Jordan Street and situated South 78°00' West 64.00 feet from the Southeast corner of said Lot 18; said corner of Lot 18 being North 83°04' West 179.85 feet from the corner of a stone wall marking the Southwest corner of Lot 2, Block 51; thence North 78°00' East 59.17 feet to a pipe 4.83 feet from the Southeast corner of Lot 18; thence North 0°58' East 41.09 feet to a pipe on the North side of a 3 foot cedar tree; thence South 89°02' East 8.90 feet to the East line of Lot 18; thence North 6°56' East 65.40 feet along the East line of Lot 18 to a pipe set 15 feet South of the Center of the Rough and Ready Ditch; thence along ditch South 67°39' West 104.00 feet to a pipe set 15 feet South of the center of said ditch; thence South 14°52' East 81.31 feet to Jordan Street and the place of beginning.

That the object of the said action is to obtain the judgment of this court against the said defendants and each one of them known and unknown as follows:

That all adverse claims to and all clouds upon the title of the plaintiff in the said real property or any and every part thereof be determined by the judgment and decree of the said court, and that it be decreed that plaintiff is the sole owner in fee of said real property and the whole thereof of the said real property herein described, being the same real property described in the complaint of plaintiff on file herein and that plaintiff is in the possession of the property and entitled to the possession of the said real property, and the whole thereof, and that the said defendants have not and that no one of the said defendants, including the unknown persons made defendants herein, have any right, title, estate, lien or interest of any kind whatsoever in or to or on the said real property or any part thereof, and that the said defendants and each of them, known or unknown, be forever debarred, enjoined and restrained from making or asserting any claims whatsoever in or to the real property or any part thereof, adverse to plaintiff and that the title of the said plaintiff in and to the said real property and the whole thereof be forever quieted and adjudged good and valid, and for such other and further additional order, judgment, decree and general relief as is meet and proper in the premises.

Flower Show at Bennetts Gardens Saturday Is Rated Huge Success

Approximately 150 people attended the Fall Flower Show and Silver Tea sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club Saturday afternoon, in Mrs. R. J. Bennetts gardens.

The Ridge Road Garden Club, Blue Tent Garden Club, Colfax Garden Club, and Nevada City Garden Club members participated in flower arrangements.

Mrs. Marguerite Webb, president of the Loomis Women's Club noted for her many prize winning flower shows, explained 10 basic principals of flower arranging.

Dozens of flower arrangements for modern table setting, holidays and novelty were displayed.

Out of the ordinary was the green rose arrangement by Mrs. Mary C. Wallis. The original bush was given to Mrs. Clutter in the 70's by Emil Ott's father.

"Fragrance from a Country Garden" arranged by Mrs. Wm. L. Davies, showed her summer work of gathering and drying petals, to make a rose jar, lavendar sticks and satchets.

Mrs. Ida Mae Foote displayed roses in a Bavarian rose bowl a family heirloom over 100 years old.

Mrs. Ann Rogers used an antique pewter pitcher for rose bud arrangements.

Mrs. H. J. Ray arranged a conversational table, zinnias from Mrs. Louis E. Brown's garden, in an English china soup tureen, surrounded by family household possessions.

The tea table center piece, fruit and vegetables and silver peacocks, was made and arranged by Mrs. Wanda Lageson. It was highly complimented by Mrs. Webb. The background for the table was banked by dozens of glads, arranged by U. S. N. Johnson, who donated them to the club to be auctioned.

Gate prizes were won by Mrs. Jennie Orzalli, Mrs. C. H. Lawson, and Mrs. J. F. Rankin.

Mrs. Parsons Tells Lions About Extensive Travels

The Nevada City Lions club met Wednesday night at Deer Creek Inn for a regular business meeting and dinner.

Mrs. Hester Parsons, noted authoress and world traveler, related many of her experiences she and her husband had while circling the globe. Her latest book, "You Could Do It Too" tells of her three years spent on the Pacific Island of Tahiti.

Stan Wright presided at the meeting as club president.

Charles Hilpert was program chairman.

NEW CHRYSLER

Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Jennings and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schorr drove to Detroit, Mich., where the Schorrs purchased a new Chrysler. The Schorrs continued to tour the east while the Jennings returned to Nevada City in the older car.

SURPRISE

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tobiassen attended a pot-luck dinner at the Methodist church in Nevada City last Wednesday night and were greatly surprised that the 100 church members who greeted them had assembled in their honor. They were presented with an automatic toaster as a wedding gift. Mrs. Kimball played a solo and also accompanied Bill at the piano.

LIONETTES

Nevada City Lionettes will hold its next meeting on Oct. 4 in the home of Mrs. Onda Smith, the president. The last meeting was a pot-luck dinner in the home of Mrs. Walter Russells. Most of the evening was spent in the discussions of the two dolls the club will dress for Christmas.

ENTERTAINS

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Bettcher of Willow Valley Road entertained friends from Oroville this week when Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barlton drove over to Nevada City for the day.

Cpl. Harry H. Beeson, U. S. Marine Corps, is recovering in a naval hospital in Oakland from a wound received in Korea last month. Cpl. Beeson is a brother of Mrs. Edgar Cunningham and Mrs. Weston Wyllie, of Nevada City.

Message of Democracy Is Frantz Theme at PTA

The importance of taking the message of Democracy to all peoples and proving to these Nations that is is a practical plan for world betterment and peace was explained by Edward A. Frantz, principal of the Nevada City High School at a meeting of the high school Parent Teacher Association Monday evening.

Michel Lipman, chairman of the juvenile protection committee said the high school student employment plan had worked successfully during the summer and that 60 of the 100 who registered had found part time work.

Lipman reported progress on plans for a juvenile detention home but said the proposed sight at the county hospital grounds had not yet received the endorsement of all juvenile detention agencies and officers.

The Nuggeteers entertained with five dance numbers and refreshments was served by the sophomore mothers. Mrs. Kent Walker presided.

Grand President of NDGW Will Visit Here Tuesday

Laurel Parlor No. 6, Native Daughters of the Golden West, met in regular session at the Odd Fellows Hall Wednesday evening of last week, with President Elsie Flynn presiding.

Mrs. Flynn was escorted to the seat of honor by District Deputy Julia McCullough from Sierra Pines Parlor, Colfax.

She installed Mrs. Minerva Wright and Mrs. Mary Meservey as trustees and Mrs. Hyacinth Martz as financial secretary. The three women were installed by proxy at the regular installation ceremonies.

Mrs. Nellie Clark, Mrs. Gwen Anderson and Mrs. Edna Maguire gave highlights of the centennial parade in San Francisco they had attended earlier in September.

Grand President Anna Shiebuck will make her offiiial visit next Tuesday evening with dinner scheduled at 6:30 p.m. at the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley.

Ronald Tobiassen Feted On Tenth Birthday

Ronald Tobiassen was ten years old last Saturday and fourteen of his friends came to his party. Ronald's mother, Mrs. Carl Tobiassen, planned many games but the children preferred taking turns riding his horse.

Among the guests were: Carlene Musick, Ilene Williams, Olaf Bjornstal, Patty Tobiassen, Toby Tobiassen, Vicki Lilja, Jim Danos, David Brisbell, Francis Graf, Ralph Jones, Bobby Filler, Bobby Frantz, Arlene Degraffenreid.

HERE FOR WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. Harleth Brock, and their daughter, Harlene, spent last weekend in Nevada City. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams drove them back to Sausalito where they plan to live for the next four years. Mrs. Williams is the sister of Betty Brock. Byron Brock has been spending some time assisting moving picture people who were stopping at his Motel scout for locations which they plan to use this coming spring.

FIREMEN MEET

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lewis and their son, John, attended the Firemen's Convention held at Hoberg's in Lake county. Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilpert. They were sent from Long Beach as delegates to the Convention. On their return trip home they spent one week in Nevada City.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Carl Tobiassen, better known as Toby, celebrated his fourth birthday last Sunday at his home in the Oakes subdivision where he lives with his mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Tobiassen. Ten of the neighboring children came to attend the party his mother gave in his honor.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. Hazel George of Grass Valley had a luncheon yesterday for the members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority of which Mrs. Vivian Hartman is president. They planned their rushing season. This group meets twice a month and has around 35 members.

Maxine Ivey Installed Worthy Advisor of Local Rainbows Girls Assembly

Miss Maxine Ivey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ivey, was installed Worthy Advisor of Nevada City Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, Saturday evening at the Music Hall. Miss Joan Oje, retiring Worthy Advisor, officiated as installing officer. Other installing officers were: Joanne Hefelfinger, Chaplain; Sharon Colvin, Reporter; Franz Luschen, Musician; Georgiana Danos, Marshal.

The Nevada City Home Department met Wednesday at Seaman's Lodge. Mrs. Frances Dunkinson the home demonstration agent talked on "Packing the Lunch Box". The members brought their lunches and coffee was served.

Miss Mary Hawkins Is Enjoying Europe Travels

Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hawkins received a very interesting letter from their daughter Mary who is touring Europe. She graduated from the College of Holy Names which is located in Oakland, last June and with 20 other young ladies, left on July 11, on the Holy Year Tour.

Miss Hawkins and a friend stayed in Europe when the two months tour was completed.

They visited England, Italy, Austria, France and Germany and were fortunate to be there for the Passion Play.

The 20 young women had an unpleasant experience while traveling through the occupied zone in Germany as one of the travelers unwisely took a picture of that territory. The Russians held her for questioning for several hours. When she was returned to her friends Russian soldiers were stationed at either end of the train with Tommy guns and the doors locked. The train was jerked so violently, a suit case fell on a young lady's head causing her to loose consciousness and medical aid was refused them.

Most of the Russian soldiers they came in contact with could speak a very good English but generally refuse to converse with the Americans.

Their six days spent in Vieanna was filled with tension, as they never knew when they would be taken to headquarters for questioning but Paris was a playland filled with joy for these young travelers.

Walter Hawkins, Jr., spent the week end with his parents but has returned to Fort Ord where he is awaiting orders. He had been in the reserves so was unable to finish his last year at Santa Clara.

Church Announcements

Christian Science Church

Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the church, 114 Boulder street. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m.

Testimonial meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 8 p.m.

Reading room is located at 207 Main street, and is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, holidays excepted, from 2 to 4 p.m.

For the Christian Science lesson-sermon this Sunday, on the subject, "Unreality," the golden text will be read from Jeremiah: "What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord" (23:28).

The sermon will be comprised of citations from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following:

Isaiah 41:15, 16: "Behold, I will make thee a new sharp threshing instrument having teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountains, and beat them small, and shalt make the hills as chaff. Thou shalt fan them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlwind shall scatter them: and thou shalt rejoice in the Lord, and shalt glory in the Holy One of Israel."

Science and Health: "The temporal and unreal never touch the eternal and real. The mutable and imperfect never touch the immutable and perfect. The inharmonious and self-destructive never touch the harmonious and self-existent. The opposite qualities are the tares and wheat, that never really mingle, though (to mortal sight) they grow side by side until the harvest; then, Science separates the wheat from the tares, through the realization of God as ever present and of man as reflecting the divine likeness" (p. 300).

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:

By CLAIR ENGLE

A Visit With the President

I am always amazed at the ability of President Truman to carry the load of responsibility he has and stand up under the pressure of his office without showing the fatigue or worry he must feel.

Last week Congresswoman Helen Douglas and I went down to see him to urge his favorable action on the measure authorizing the Sacramento Valley canals as an addition to the Sacramento Valley Project, a bill which I co-authored.

When we were ushered into the president's office by Matt Connelly, his secretary, the president was not in the room, but apparently in a side office which leads off from the large oval office used by the presidents for many years for the transaction of business. Connelly went out to inform the president that we were there and he immediately came through the door, strode briskly across the room looking bouyant and full of good spirits. He still has some of his summer's tan and appeared a little heavier than when I saw him last.

As we sat down I told the president that the purpose of our visit was to urge him to sign the canal legislation for northern California; and of its tremendous importance to the people in that area. He looked at Matt Connelly and said, "Well, where is the bill"—indicating that he was ready to sign it right then without any further discussion. I was very pleased by this turn of events, but Connelly said that the usual departmental reports hadn't gotten over to the White House yet. However I feel that our mission was accomplished and that the bill will be signed.

Under Heavy Pressure

Photographers were called in and the president and Mrs. Douglas was seated at his desk while I stood behind and between them. While the photographers were shooting the pictures, the president picked up his schedule for the day, which was a long list of callers —arranged approximately at fifteen minute intervals. He said that he hardly had time to turn around and there were so many people who wanted to see him that it was difficult to get his work done. He mentioned that he was working on a message to congress. We, of course, knew that it was the veto message on the McCarran Communist control bill. He remarked that he was sending us a strong message and that he had never believed in being a "trimmer." He said that all his life he had always taken a position and stood on it —from the time he was first elected to any public office, as indicated in that original certificate. He further stated that to him the first ten amendments to the constitution were more important than all of the rest of it put together. As you know, the first ten amendments are the Bill of Rights—and the president seems to feel that the bill passed by congress to control Communists goes too far and would jeopardize some of the basic rights guaranteed to our citizens under the constitution.

Congress Adjourns

After I left the White House I hurried back to the House Office Building were the House sessions were held in a committee room while the regular chamber of the capitol is being renovated. With the most pressing legislation acted upon, the House and Senate leadership agreed to adjourn at the close of the session on Saturday, Sept. 23—to reconvene Nov. 27. This closes the longest, and in some ways the most trying session of congress since the war, and needless to say I am looking forward to getting home to California and the Second District.

CONFER WITH PRESIDENT ON CANAL BILL

Rep. Clair Engle, congressman of the second district, California, which includes Nevada county, and Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, are shown conferring with President Harry S. Truman on the recently passed Sacramento Valley canal bill which authorizes construction of the irrigation project for Tehama, Glenn, Butte and Colusa counties. Shortly after Congresswoman Douglas and Rep. Engle called at the White House to request favorable consideration, the president signed the measure into law.

NATIVE OF RIDGE CALLED BY DEATH

Requiem mass was sung Wednesday morning at St. Canice Catholic church for Mrs. Josie M. Muscardini, 69, life-long resident of Nevada county, who died Monday morning at Miners hospital. Interment was in the family plot in the Nevada City cemetery.

Mrs. Muscardini was born on March 5, 1881, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hieronimus, in North Bloomfield. The family moved to Nevada City in 1892.

She was married Dec. 16, 1920, to John D. Muscardini, who survives.

Other survivors are her sons, John J. Muscardini, Modesto; William Muscardini, Sacramento; step-daughter, Emma Frederickson, Sacramento; brother, Simon Hieronimus, Nevada City; sisters, Mrs. Freda Ronchi, Folsom, and Mrs. Anna C. Tucker, Nevada City; several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Muscardini was an active member of St. Canice Catholic church; Laurel Parlor No. 6, Native Daughters of the Golden West; and Past Presidents Association No. 9, NDGW.

Rosary was held Tuesday evening at the Bergemann Funeral Chapel.

Ed J. Kohler, North San Juan, president of the Chamber of Commerce of North San Juan, Camptonville and Vicinity, was named general chairman of the North San Juan district in the Crusade for Freedom, according to Superior Judge James Snell, Nevada county general chairman of the patriotic drive. Rev. Father Virgil Gabrielle, is chairman for churches of the district.

GLENBROOK CARPENTER ANSWERS LAST CALL

Mooris Parker, 67, resident of Nevada county 18 years, died at the Nevada county hospital Tuesday morning.

Parker a native of Ohio, was a journeyman bricklayer, and resided in Glenbrook district.

FINED $30

Charles Crook, 27, Loomis, was fined $30 Saturday by Justice of the Peace George W. Gildersleeve for hunting deer with hard jacketed ammunition; following his arrest Sept. 17 on Fordyce road.

The J. R. Hilperts on Cooper Road have had many house guests during the hunting season.

31 COUNTY TEACHERS FOR ART COURSE

Thirty-one teachers of Nevada county schools have signed for an extension course in elementary school industrial arts, according to Walter A. Carlson, county superintendent of schools.

The course deals with industrial arts in elementary education arranged through Dr. Harold E. Roberts, coordinator of field service at Sacramento State College.

Mrs. Vivian Fliedered, member of the Sacramento State College faculty, will instruct the class, which will meet Monday evenings at the Grass Valley high school.

HELD FOR EUREKA

Van L. Williams, former resident of Nevada City, was picked up here Tuesday by Nevada City police on warrant for grand theft —auto felony, issued from Eureka.

WRECKS CAR

Dean Smith Kelly, Marysville, employee of the California Division of highway, while driving his own car, crashed into a dirt bank turned over near the North Columbia road intersection on the Downieville highway Monday. Kelly was attempting to pass a state division of forestry fire truck at the time of the accident. His car was badly damaged. The truck was not touched.

HUNTING GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barnhart of Cooper Road had house guests for six days during hunting season. Mr. and Mrs. McLeroy of Los Angeles, were friends of the Barnhart's daughter, who lives in the South. Mr. and Mrs. George Donahue arrived from Torrance. George and Stewart Jolly of Long Beach, are brothers who enjoyed their share of hunting and Max Krisler, also from Long Beach.

SARGENT REVIEWS THE FIRST FIVE YEARS OF EXISTENCE OF SEVERAL NEVADA COUNTY TOWNS, CAMPS

SKETCH OF NEVADA COUNTY

By A. A. SARGENT

The county of Nevada was organized by an act of the legislature, approved May 18, 1851. Before that time it had been a part of Yuba county, but the growth of population and business, and the distance of the court for the trial of important criminal and civil business, prompted the citizens of this part of Yuba county to move in the Legislature for a separate county organization.

The application was successful. Henry Miller, J. N. Turner, J. R. Crandall, J. S. Allen and Amos T. Laird, of Nevada, were appointed by the act in question to designate election precincts, appoint inspectors of elections, receive returns, and issue certificates of election.

The election of the first officers of the county took place on the fourth Monday of May, 1851, and T. H. Caswell was chosen County Judge; J. R. McConnell, District Attorney; Theodore Miller, County Clerk; John Gallagher, Sheriff; C. Marsh, County Surveyor; T. G. Williams, Assessor, and H. C. Hodge, Treasurer.

The vote of the county cast at that election was about two thousand and nine hundred.

The very earliest settlement of which we can obtain a trace in the territory now known as Nevada county, was in the summer of 1848, at a place known as Rose's Corral, between what is now the Anthony House and Bridgeport. A man named Rose here built an adobe house, in which he traded with the Indians of the neighborhood, and built a corral. The spot is now in ruins, and has been but little used since—the location not being valuable for the purpose of trade, as the country became more fully developed and no mines have been discovered in the vicinity. Rose also gave his name to a bar on the Yuba.

Early in the spring of 1849 a company of Oregonians—old mountaineers, known as Greenwood & Co., in which were also some of Stephenson's regiment—followed up the South Yuba. They creviced for gold from what is now called Illinois Bar up to Washington.

Some emigrants from Indiana, who arrived in 1849 at Sacramento, followed in their trail, and worked along the river steadily and with much success, with rockers. In the fall of 1849 they stopped at Washington.

Greenwood & Co. stopped at Jefferson, which place was then known as "Greenwood's Camp;" and Washington, as "The Indiana Boys' Camp." The winter was very severe, and the snow fell to a great depth, so that little mining could be done until spring.

In August, 1849, an Oregon trader by the name of Findley, commenced a store near the Bear River, near what is now known as Storms Ranch on the old emigrant trail, to trade with the emigrants. Findley was an old mountaineer, inured to hardships, and had three times crossed the plains to Oregon, at a time when the passage was much more difficult than it is at present. Findley sold out his establishment to one Brooks, by whose name it is at present known.

In September, 1849, David Bovyer established himself at the South Yuba, near Jones' Crossing, for the purpose of trading with the Indians, and moved in October of the same year to White Oak Springs.

The only places in the county that date back as far as 1849, that are at present of importance, are Nevada City, Grass Valley, Rough and Ready, Washington and Jefferson.

As late as August, 1850, Washington was the highest point on the South Yuba at which gold had been discovered, and a large population centered in that place and at Jefferson, giving to these points an air of importance that has never been regained. Washington, at the September election, 1855, cast one hundred and eighty-three votes, and Jefferson, fifty-three. In August, 1850, the miners at that part of the South Yuba numbered fully one thousand.

They had remained there since the spring, or gathered in since, waiting for the water to fall, to turn the river, and prospect their claims. Dams and canals were constructed at a prodigious expense in those days. The success of working in the banks gave encouragement for these undertakings; but when the river was drained, the unsatisfactory result soon depopulated the whole neighborhood. Goods of all kinds immediately fell in price, and any article could be had at the scene of recent activity for half what it would sell at in Nevada City. The large anticipations that had been formed of fortunes covered by the river vanished, and with them the crowd of miners that had made the woods and canyons echo with life. Of the other towns which grew up in 1849, we shall hereafter speak more at large.

One of the most important agents in developing the resources of the county has been the water introduced from natural streams by means of ditches. During a large part of the year the business of the region must utterly fail were it not for artificial streams, that compensate in a great measure for the drouth of the summer season, and enable the miner to pursue his calling. The ditching operations have been generally so profitable to the projectors, and so indispensable to the mining interests that they now net nearly the whole county. Wherever good diggings are opened some enterprising men cast about for a supply of water, and spare no efforts to conquer the many obstacles which are presented by a rough, thinly settled country.

In March, 1850, the first enterprise of this kind was undertaken, but upon a small scale. It brought water from Mosquito Creek, a distance of a mile and half, to Old Coyote Hill. Another ditch in May, 1850, took water from Little Deer Creek to Phelps Hill, a short distance.

The first enterprise of this kind upon a large scale was unsuccessful. It was started in August, 1850, by a man named Moore, and was designed to take water from Deer Creek, just above Nevada, to Rough and Ready. Moore dug but one mile of his ditch and was generally accounted crazy for his pains. But the enterprise was taken up the following January by Messrs. A. L. and B. O. Williams, who succeeded in getting the water through in the following April, a distance of thirteen miles, and made a great deal of money in working diggings on Randolph Flat with the water.

In September, 1850, Messrs. John and Thomas Dunn, C. Carroll, and C. Marsh projected the Rock Creek Ditch, taking water from Rock Creek to Nevada, a distance of nine miles, and got the water onto the Coyote Hills in December of the same year. This was the first large ditch in successful operation in the county, and produced great results.

Before that time the pay dirt taken from the Coyote lead had all to be hauled in carts to Deer Creek, at the foot of town at great expense; and piles of dirt had been left near the shafts on the hills, as useless, because it would not pay to be hauled for washing. These piles of dirt now became valuable, as the water flowed by them, and thousands of dollars were washed out of them. Many persons made their "piles" by "jumping" the piles of dirt that had been left as useless, the owners in many cases having gone to other states well laden with the first produce of the lead.

Coyote claims that could not be worked to advantage, also became valuable; sluice washing gradually came into use, and the water flowing from the hills where it was first used, down into the ravines, gave opportunity for work where before it could only be done in winter.

In November, 1850, two rival companies began to construct ditches to convey the water of Deer Creek to Nevada. The "Deer Creek Water Co." began their ditch at the upper end, at the Creek; the "Coyote Water Co." began at the end next to he own. After the completion ofthe ditches, the companies were involved in continual lawsuits as to the priority of rights, to avoid which they consolidated in the fall of 1851.

In March, 1851, Messrs. Thomas & Co. started the "Deer Creek Mining Company's" ditch, leading from Deer Creek to Gold Flat, a distance of fifteen mileh, and completed it in one year.

The "Newtown Ditch" was constructed in 1851 by Messrs. Dickenson, Newton and others, taking water from Deer Creek and conveying it five miles to Newtown.

The "Tri-Union," formerly called the "Rifle Box" ditch, was started in April, 1851, by Messrs. Montgomery, Mason and others, and takes water to Sucker Flat, in Yuba county, a distance of fifteen miles.

The "Shady Creek Ditch" was commenced by Eddy & Co. in July, 1851, and runs from Shady Creek to Sweetland's and French Corral, twelve miles.

The "Grizzly Ditch" was commenced in November, 1851, by Messrs. Pettiborn, Marsh and Stewart, and runs from Bloody Run and Grizzly Canyon to Cherokee and San Juan and in all its extensions, is forty-five miles in length.

The "Little York" ditch was started in February, 1852, by Gen. A. M. Winn, Capt. Chapman and others, and runs from Bear River, at Bear Valley, to Little York, a distance of eighteen miles.

The "Walloupa" ditch was commenced in July, 1852, by Messrs. Churchman, Coryell, Marsh, Dunn, McIntyre and McConnell, from Steep Hollow to Walloupa and Red Dog, a distance of fifteen miles. It was finished in 1855.

"Poorman's Creek" ditch was commenced in 1853 by Berryman and others, running from Poorman's Creek to Orleans and Moore's Flat.

"Spring Creek and Humbug Canyon" ditch was commenced in 1853 by Messrs. Marsh, Tisdale and Rochford, to take water to Montezuma Hill.

The "Memphis Race" was commenced in 1853 by Dr. James Weaver to take the waters from the Middle Yuba to Eureka. This ditch is not yet finished, and is very large.

In 1853 Messrs, Spencer, Rich and Fordyce commenced a ditch from Deer Creek to Nevada, a distance of twenty miles, which was completed in 1854.

The "Middle Yuba Canal Co." was commenced by Hoit & Co. in 1854, and was designed to take the waters of Grizzly Canyon to San Juan, Sebastopol, etc. Finding the supply of water to be insufficient, the company increased their capital, enlarged the ditch, and are now extending it to the Middle Yuba. It will probably be completed in the spring of 1856.

The "Miners' Ditch" runs from the Middle Yuba to Snow Point, Moore's and Woolsey's Flats, and was commenced in the spring of 1855. It is a very large ditch, conducting water over a very difficult route, and is remarkable for the energy displayed in its construction, as in the great difficulties of the undertaking. Mr. James Cregan is the principal director in the enterprise. The ditch is probably finished as this work goes to press.

The "Rock Creek, Deer Creek and South Yuba Water Co." formed by the consolidation of all the early Nevada Water Companies, are now constructing a ditch from the South Yuba to the head of Deer Creek, and to Alpha and Omega—the most stupendous ditch operation in the state. They have blasted through a bluff of solid granite for over a mile, on the South Yuba, the cliff in some places being over eighty feet in height, and the shelf formed fifteen feet in width. They are also cutting a tunnel through the Deer Creek and Steep Hollow ridge, 3,100 feet in length, 204 feet from the summit.

We have been thus definite in tracing the history of ditch operation in this county, because no other department of industry has tended so greatly to develop the resources of this county and add to its population and wealth. Some of the smaller enterprises of this nature may have escaped our attention.

12 ATTEND RIDGE CHAMBER MEETING

Chamber of Commerce officials of Nevada City, plagued by poor attendance and lack of interest, might well attend a session of the Chamber of Commerce of the Ridge—North San Juan, Camptonville and Vicinity—and learn the secret of lively interest and good attendance.

President Ed J. Kohler reported lively session Thursday evening of last week at Wilson's Log Cabin, and a program for the winter season was mapped

MRS. SARAH ROBERTS DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Sarah Roberts, former Nevada City resident, died Wednesday, last week, according to word received here by relatives. Funeral services were hel Monday in San Francisco.

CURRENT ECONOMIC CONDITIONS TO BE REVIEWED AT SACRAMENTO VALLEY COUNCIL MEETING OCT. 6

Sacrameto valley economy in the light of current conditions, new legislation and the effects of the Korean war on industry, agriculture and other activities, will be reviewed at Sacramento, Friday, Oct. 6, when representatives of 19 counties gather for the fall meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce's Sacramento Valley Council.

"These factors are vital—now or in the near future—to the valley, so we have arranged a comprehensive program to cover all phases of such questions", Clarence H. Bruener, Stockton, stated, in announcing the meeting. "Six committees will hold concurrent sessions at the Hotel Senator in the morning, and at noon, committee recommendations will be reviewed at the council luncheon.

"An added luncheon number will be debate of the need for California legislation in conserving the state's oil and gas resources. L. A. Cranson, president of the Oil Producers Agency of California, will support the proposal for legislation. Opposing will be George F. Meredith, Los Angeles."

Besides analysis of the new federal security coverage affecting agriculture by Chas. A. Brown, state chamber director of industrial insurance, the agriculture committee meeting, under Chairman George Lodi, Arbuckle, will hear of Korean war impact in the fields of manpower, machinery, fertilizer and railroad car supply. Speakers include: Cameron Girton, Woodland, Tomato Growers of California; Edward Hayes chief, farm placement, state department of employment; Osgood Murdock, publisher, Implement Record; Weller Noble, Berkeley, general manager, central division, Southern Pacific Co.,; L. C. Krames, assistant general freight agent, Santa Fe Railway.

County Engineer Arthur Keifer, Sacramento, R. H. Wilson, assistant state highway engineer and Director Charles H. Purcell, state department of public works, are speakers on the highway committee program arranged by Florence W. Tarr, Chico, highway chairman. Highway construction needs of California counties, status of federal aid secondary highway funds, the 1951-52 state highway budget, truck taxation study and import of ballot proposition No. 1 on county highway financing are among scheduler subjects.

Analysis of the new defense production act as it will apply to California, by Rex T. Kearney, president, Sacramento Northern Railroad, will start the industrial committee program. Industrial Chairman L. J. Brundige has arranged for review of the manpower situation of California industry in view of war conditions by James E. Bryant, director, state department of employment.

The new federal social security act will be analyzed by Chas. A. Brown, state chamber of commerce staff. Col. Joseph S. Gorlinski, executive secretary of the central valley regional water pollution control board, will outline progress under the new water pollution control legislation. Chairman Kenneth R. Walker's resources committee program stresses on forestry, state water resources report and Sacramento valley irrigation.

State Forester DeWitt Nelson will report the 1950 gains and losses in forest resources, and State Engineer A. D. Edmonston will outline the recently finished report on California's water resources. The Sacramento valley's east and west side canals is the subject of Donald M. Smith Red Bluff, secretary of the Sacramento valley irrigation committee. Smith also will report on legislation and the status of the Engle-Scudder bill.

James Dean, state director of finance will analyze the value of annual budgets before the tax committee. of which Ira E. Brink, Chico, is chairman. Reasons for the increased cost of the aid to needy children proram is the theme of Mrs. Mary J. Patterson, Sacramento county welfare department director. Relationship of the new federal security act to local assistance will be explained by George Hewitt, manager of the Sacramento office, federal old age and survivor's insurance system.

River park development — attracting interest to recreational areas at Miller park and on the Sacramento and American rivers will be presented at the travel and recreation committee session by Glenn Hall, Sacramento's city engineer. The committee, headed by Kenneth R. Hammaker, will review the last summer session, hear prospects for the area's winter sports areas, discuss acquisition of Lake Tahoe beach frontage for public use, roadside picnic grounds, fairs, fiestas and other celebrations.

The state chamber's Sacramento valley council membership represents Butte, Colusa, El Dorado, Glenn, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Solano, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Yolo and Yuba counties.

MOTORIST CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Robert Adams is in county jail charged with involuntary manslaughter involving the death of Dr. Jack Loughridge, Sacramento dentist, in an automobile accident at Donner Aug. 7. Bail is set at $10,000.

He was bound over to superior court by Justice of the Peace R. N. Little of Meadowlake Township.

Adams was returned from Madison, S. D., early this month by Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins.

25 MEN WORKING ON SEWAGE PLANT

Twenty-five men are employed on construction of Nevada City's sewage disposal plant, according to Morris DeRock, of the KE-Ston Construction Co., South Gate.

DeRock said the work is about thirty percent completed and he expected construction will be completed about the first of the year.

PAYS $100 FINE

W. F. Gassaway, Grass Valley, paid $100 fine for possession of spike buck in Meadowlake justice court. Justice of the Peace R. N. Little imposed the fine.

NID BOARD MEETINGS RETURN TO NORMAL AS TEMPERS FLARE

After one board meeting of cooperation and calmness Sept. 15, the meeting of the board of directors of the Nevada Irrigation District returned to its normal stormy sessions last Friday at C. J. Pomeroy, Placer county, and Director Eugene Powers questioned the release of NID records to the Nevada county grand jury with being accompanied by a custodian.

Records of the NID had been subpenaed the previous Friday and taken to the courthouse for study by an NID investigating committee of the inquisatory body.

Powers questioned the right of the grand jury to remove the records from the possession of the district without a custodian from the district.

Pomeroy took the floor and charged a "serious blunder" had been committed and that Chairman Max Arnold had "usurped" power as board president by eprmitting the records to leave the district.

Arnold ordered Pomeroy to relinquish the floor when the Placer county man commenced to refer to Forrest Varney's dismissal as manager Sept. 8.

P. J. Minasian, attorney for the district, said the board should have appointed a custodian for the records, whose duty was to deliver the records, remain with them during examination by the grand jury, and return them to the NID office when they were not in use. Minasian added that the error was one that could be remedied.

Minasian reported the records were in the possession of County Clerk Ralph E. Deeble, who said he could not relinquish them without a proper order. District Attorney Vernon Stoll declined to rule on the matter but felt the records could be returned if the grand jury was through with them.

FORMER SUPERVISOR FOUND DEAD IN CABIN

Funeral services were held in Truckee Tuesday for Alex Robertson, 75, former Nevada county supervisor, who was found dead in his cabin at Hobart Mills Sunday. Ashes were interred in the Truckee cemetery.

Constable N. F. Dolley, Truckee, said Robertson apparently had died Thcrsday evening of a heart attack.

Robertson was a native of Sierra valley and represented the fifth district from January, 1929, until January, 1945.

He had lived alone in his cabin since the death of his wife on March 28, 1949.

"Our new electric range is out of this world"

Cooking seemed an awful chore,
Kept me flustered and concerned,
Made me fret and pace the floor,
Almost frantic when I learned . . .
"With a new electric range, ma'am,
You don't gamble on the heat;
It's controlled and automatic.
Thrifty, too, and hard to beat!"
My electric range is priceless!
Roasts are perfect! Cakes immense!
Daily meals are better and I
Do it all on seven cents! (*)

Need a New Range, Folks? The latest electric ranges offer you 7 modern advantages! They're automatic, cool, clean, thrifty, fast and efficient. Porcelain enamel, inside and out, is rustproof, corrosion proof, easy to clean. Super-size automatic ovens heat in a jiffy. Broilers are smokeless. Top units provide measured heat for any surface cooking job. Deep well units cook homey foods perfectly. Let your dealer show you why it will pay to get a new electric range!

(*) 7¢ a Day is the Average Cost of Cooking Electrically here in Northern California because P. G. and E. rates are among the lowest in the nation! An electric range and an electric water heater in your home reduce power rates still more!

YELLOWJACKETS HOSTS TO GALT AT HENNESSY

Nevada City high school Yellowjackets and Bees will take on their second non-league assignment at Hennessy field tonight against the Galt high school gridders from southern Sacramento county.

Little is known of the strength of the Galt gridders except that they were defeated by the powerful Sutter Creek Miners from Amador county by a 20 to 0 score last week.

Probable starters for the Yellowjackets in the backfield will be Dean Morrison, rated as one of the most capable ball handlers and carriers in the Foothill circuit; Jim Scribner, David Mott, Bob Pohley and Chuck Degraffenreid.

Experienced holdovers from the 1949 squad who will perform in the front wall will be Gordon Lageson, center; Doug Atkins, left end; Bill Beverage, tackle, and Melo Pello and Kent Walker, guards.

Coach Thomas Nelson expects to substitute freely in an attempt to work out a winning lineup before regular league play starts. Nelson said he was pleased with the boys' performance last week when they held the Gridley squad to a 12 to 12 tie but said some of the boys showed a tendency to tire in the last two quarters.

Coach Bob Bonner did not announce an offiical lineup for his Bee squad tonight but expects the following will be very close to an opening roster:

Ray Kirk and Don Boucher, ends; Grant Hefelfinger and Tiny Tanner, tackles; Wayne Whitlock and Gary Weldon, guards; Dick Mooers, center; Bill Behrbaum, Ernie Pello, Bill Sturtevant and Bruce Walker, backs.

The Yellowjackets scored a 12-12 tie in their first practice game with Gridley high school's varsity last Friday night in the Colusa county town. Bonner's Bees gave promise of a successful season with a 20-6 trouncing of the Gridley B team.

The Yellowjackets scored on the first scrimmage play of the game. A called plunge through the center of the line misfired and Quarterback Jerry Coleman forward passed to Fullback Dean Morrison for a quick 6-0 lead.

The same combination clicked for a second touchdown later in the same quarter.

The Yellowjackets' old nemesis —lack of reserves — manfiested itself in the fourth quarter and the valley gridders roared back with two touchdowns in the final quarter to tie the score.

Bonner's boys displayed consistent power by driving for all three of their touchdowns. Bill Behrbaum, Bill Sturtevant and Ernie Pello score the TD's. Bruce Walker scored both successful conversions.

With less than 90 seconds of play remaining a Gridley safety man returned a Bee punt 98 yards for the home team's lone score.

Bonner particularly praised the defensive tackle play of Walter (Tiny) Tanner.

NILE CITES LIFETIME SERVICE OF C. T. LAW

Herbert J. Nile, director of the Nevada Irrigation District, who with Max Arnold is facing a recall election next Tuesday, precipitated by the Sept. 8 discharge of Forrest Varney as manager of the NID, yesterday issued the following statement:

"There have been many unfair and derogatory statements made about Charles T. Law, who is the new agent for the directors of the NID.

"Upon inquiry, I find that Law is a civil engineer graduate of Columbia University, that he has had experience in the Alaskan mines, and that for the past 27 years, he has worked at surveying and engineering for the NID.

"His first work for the NID was under Fred H. Tibbetts in the surveying of the Mountain Division works including dams, flumes and tunnels.

"After that, he was resident engineer and was in charge of the construction of the DS diversion dam which was build by the California Air Construction Company.

"Later he was hydrographer of the NID and then assistant engineer for the district.

"It was Charles T. Law who trained the hydrographers who succeeded him. He also trained the engineers who were in many instances, young inexperienced men just beginning practical work.

"It was he who has gathered all the information and engineering statistics required by the federal and state agencies in connection with the operations of the NID for the past many years.

"He has worked under three NID managers and has always been loyal to his superiors in office and 100 percent loyal to the land owners and water users of the district.

"His sincerity and ability are unquestioned by those who have had closest contact with him."
